

ABSTRACT

A spacer 16 is interposed between a body-side bracket and a steering column to be retained and passed by a supporting pin 21, so as to be latched on either one of the both brackets, meanwhile a pin
5 insertion hole 19 through which the supporting pin is passed is formed on the spacer and a shock time breaking portion 19a is formed in the surroundings thereof.